Her husband voiced no objection when she showed her charming face in amateur plays, but he drew the line at professional work. Beira Visson, above, film actress, testified, winning a divorce in Los Angeles from H. N. Vickerman, manufacturer, whom she married in 1925. They separated in 1932.

George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and health, chairman of the committee. No hint of impending legislation on the subject was given by the minister.

The committee was set up at the 1932 session of the legislature by resolution. A progress report was submitted at the 1933 session and the committee authorized to continue its investigations for another year and report on the whole scheme in its entirety.

She's Queen Mardi Gras At N'Orleans

DOOR SLAMS IN FACE OF PEACE TALK

Hitler Already Has Reopened Fatherland, Paris is Told

Miss Laura Prenter, above, petti-
t, blue-eyed, golden-haired sportswoman—will win a queen of New Orleans 1934 Mardi Gras. The city's highest social honor hitherto has gone to one of the season's debutantes, but Miss Prenter made her low last year.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler has already reopened the fatherland, the French government charged in a firm note made public yesterday which virtually slammed the door to further arms talks between the two countries.

The note, replying to Hitler's memorandum of Jan. 18, expressed astonishment at Germany's arms attitude, and said bilateral negotiations were useless on a basis of "armament."

Thus the latest exchange in the long series of efforts to get together apparently only widened already great breach between the two over Germany's demands for 300,000 troops and defensive equipment.

The note was delivered to Hitler Wednesday, but its contents were not revealed until yesterday.

France charged that Germany had changed its mind, expressing astonishment that the "new" note "does not feel it can even live up to proposals which it previously presented" at Geneva.

Paris said Berlin said France's stand seemed to offer no practical possibilities of general disarmament and that it was discriminated against in regard to defensive strength.

His face reflecting the strain through which he passed as a prisoner of kidnappers for more than three weeks, Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, is shown here telling the story of his experience to his father, Adolf Bremer, who saved him by raising $200,000 ransom.

Elsewhere in Austria, matters appeared more quiet than in the capital.

Federals Plan To Clean Out Kidnap Points

Attorney-General of United States Scores St. Paul, Minneapolis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—St. Paul and Minneapolis were labeled last night by Attorney General Homer Cummings as two cities which needed "cleaning up."

The attorney general directed his castigation principally at St. Paul. Dismissing the Bremer kidnapping case with reporters, he expressed disappointment that the empire of the victim—Edward G. Bremer—"had not given better co-operation."

Asked if the police were fully co-operative with federal investigators, Cummings replied:

"There are segments of the police which have our confidence and segments which do not."

When questioned whether the co-operation extended beyond police circles, Cummings rose to his feet and remarked:

"I will say this: if there are any two cities which need cleaning up, they are St. Paul and Minneapolis."

VIENNA, Feb. 16.—Except for rumors of attempted assassinations, threats of sabotage, and occasional gun-fire, peace had returned to Austria today after four days of civil war.

The stubborn battle between Socialists and government forces, which had taken from 1,000 to 1,500 lives, was ended, but unverified rumors were rampant.

One told of a wholesale assassination plot directed against Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, who had escaped assassination before—Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starheim.

The only evidence of such warfare, however, was a short but brisk battle in the Stadt Park district last night, when approximately 20 Socialist riflemen hopped out of sewer manholes to snipe at Heimwehr soldiers. They ducked down again into their hiding places, however, and there was no evidence of casualties.

How the severs themselves have become a last stronghold for their fighters.

Thursday night, Socialist riflemen emerged from manholes in the Stadt-Park district—though it was officially stated that there had been no fighting in Vienna since Thursday noon—and terrified foreign residents by the din of their skirmish with police.

Elsewhere in Austria, matters appeared more quiet than in the capital.

About 3,000 prisoners are held by authorities in Vienna.

A skirmish in Stadt Park broke out before dawn when the river Vienna flows out of a tunnel.

Residents told the Associated Press they were awakened by what sounded like machine-gun fire not more than 100 yards from their windows.

The police sealed entrances to the Vienna sewers are little metal huts resembling kiosks. One enters through a doorway and climbs down a ladder on the street level. Ventilator openings in the middle of the sewer.

Keep Ideas High Through Depression

DEAR MISS DIX.—During these times of depression, when so many men are out of work and jobs are scarce, what is going to happen to the beautiful romance of so many young couples who are in love and cannot afford to marry? There are thousands of boys and girls waiting for better times when they can get married and set up their little home. Surely these dark days will end, but will you not give us a word of encouragement and hope, something to keep us together until we can set up our little home for which we long and plan. N. R. A.

Answer:—One of the most tragic features of the depression has been that the bottom has dropped out of the matrimonial market as it has out of the stock market and capital. Preferred and Income Incorporated have taken a slump along with the other stocks in which so many of us had our all invested.

No one will deny that those who have suffered most from the hard times are the young. Not only have they lost their money and found the door of opportunity locked and barred to them, but they have had the little white cottage built for them for the first time in their lives shut in their faces by the loss of jobs and the consequent inability to fill the ladder and supply the bread and cheese to go along with the kisses.

It does not seem fair that the blight of depression should have fallen on sweethearts. Love and its attendant should not be dependent on the state of business, but the world has a price tag on it and matrimony is not exempt from it. In the old days it was the young men who were better than the young women, but now it is the young women who are better than the young men, and this is as it should be.

And so thousands upon thousands of young couples have had to defer their wedding day until such a time as they can live as cheaply as a cat.

Two can live as cheaply as a cat. Let no one underestimate the suffering and the unhappiness this means. The heart is the seat of the soul and the soul can feel for companionship as much as the body can for food. The soul can feel for companionship as much as the body can for food.

Many engaged couples who have not been able to marry and who have not had the courage to stand the gulf. They turned toward the principles which they had been reared, and defied the conventions and the customs of the world. They found their pleasure where they found it, and they found it in the love of each other.

The best majority of young people who are married have been postponed by the depression and the loss of money. They have been postponed by the depression and the loss of money.

For their love has been tried out in the fire of affliction and all the things that the world has to offer have been tried out in the fire of affliction.

Cookery Is Economical

Centuries ago housewives learned that there was no way to bring out the best of their cooking but to use as to stew and simmer them in earthenware pots.

There were the first casseroles. And other materials were discovered that would withstand heat, casserole or closely covered pots were made of them in turn until today they are available in all sizes and shapes.

There are many points in favor of casseroles. In preparing it first cut your meat in its economical proportions. Food cooked in casseroles is delicious and the cheapest out of meat that is most unappetizing when cooked in other ways—and there is no loss of food value.

KEEPS MEAT HOT

Aside from this true economy, the casserole has these merits which set it apart from other ways of cooking. It is a perfect medium for "one piece" meats, a place for the "leftovers" and it keeps a delicious heat on top of the food.

Any food which can be boiled, steamed or baked can be cooked in a casserole. In preparing it first cut your meat in its economical proportions. Centuries ago housewives learned that there was no way to bring out the best of their cooking but to use as to stew and simmer them in earthenware pots.

There were the first casseroles. And other materials were discovered that would withstand heat, casserole or closely covered pots were made of them in turn until today they are available in all sizes and shapes.

There are many points in favor of casseroles. In preparing it first cut your meat in its economical proportions. Food cooked in casseroles is delicious and the cheapest out of meat that is most unappetizing when cooked in other ways—and there is no loss of food value.

KEEPS MEAT HOT

Aside from this true economy, the casserole has these merits which set it apart from other ways of cooking. It is a perfect medium for "one piece" meats, a place for the "leftovers" and it keeps a delicious heat on top of the food.

Any food which can be boiled, steamed or baked can be cooked in a casserole. In preparing it first cut your meat in its economical proportions. Food cooked in casseroles is delicious and the cheapest out of meat that is most unappetizing when cooked in other ways—and there is no loss of food value.

NORTHERN AIR PILOTS SAID WORLD'S BEST

Twenty-four-hour Coast Route Coming, Says Enthusiast

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Col. George A. Drew, writer and aviation enthusiast, told members of the Ontario Anglers Association last night that within a year Canada would have a 24-hour trans-continental air service and that airports along the route would be completed.

Col. Drew said there was a lack of interest in the air-ports of the west, and that the pilots of the north-country, he declared, were "without qualification the finest in the world."

FRATERNITY LEO
PROVOST, Feb. 18.—Mrs. N. Jacobson, north of town, is in hospital this week with a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson were preparing to drive to town and, while her husband was hitching up the team, Mrs. Jacobson fell into the cutter. The horse broke away and, in jumping, from the cutter, Mrs. Jacobson fell, breaking her leg.

Blister beetles of one species or another are to be found in every province of Canada.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16.—A small inoperative coupe parked up to the studio gate. It needed a new coat of paint and it was a hot body it was, in other words, one of those cars that bring rowls to the face of impassable studio gates.

Not this car, however. The gate-man grinned at the heavy chain, which closes the entrance to all outsiders, clanged to the ground. The car moved forward.

"Good morning, Miss Francis," said the driver, touching his hat. Yes, the tall dark girl behind the wheel was the charming Kay Francis, little to work as usual in her own driving car. Kay can afford more luxurious automobiles, like the ones parked outside of the studio gates.

But, unlike most of Hollywood's actresses, she won't squander her money that way. Her expensive car takes her wherever she wants to go and, in California, when driving it herself. Rather than send her money on new cars, Kay invests it to provide for the future, after she has retired from the movies.

A GOOD BUSINESS WOMAN
The latest of Hollywood's feminine stars is an intelligent business woman. She knows exactly how much money she earns, how much she invests, and how much, at all times, that she has on hand. She indulges in only one extravagance—electric lights. When Kay is at home her entire seven-room house is lighted brightly.

That house, by the way, is the prettiest of any in the upper film circles. It is a seven-room bungalow, old-fashioned in style but completely modern in equipment. In this setting, however, one finds a butler, a cook, and a personal maid.

Miss Francis has two weaknesses—late eating and late sleeping. Food always tastes bad to her during the small hours of the morning, particularly if it has been flavored with therryl.

If she had her way, practically everything she eats would be flavored with that wine. After her early morning "supper," she's ready to crawl into bed, and really prefers to until both hands of the clock were straight up. Unfortunately, her picture work won't permit that.

LOVER PAIR IS SHOT TO DEATH

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—Everett Johnson, 21, and his orphan sweetheart, Miss Evelyn Darlowe, 20, were found shot to death in a rooming house on the girl's rooming house.

Two bullets had been fired from a revolver clutched in one hand of the young man.

Manitoba House Discusses London Wheat Pact

WINNIPEG, Feb. 15.—Committee and criticism of the government's actions with regard to the London wheat agreement permeated debate on the speech from the throne in the Manitoba legislature yesterday.

Marcel Munroe (Independent-Labor Winnipeg) defended the action of prairie premiers in bringing the wheat situation to the attention of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. Responsibility for the legislation, he declared, rested solely with the Dominion government.

Wheat Pact Is Main Issue In Manitoba Joust

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—Prairie government policy in implementing the London wheat agreement continued to stalk through debate on the speech from the throne yesterday in the Manitoba legislature.

The wheat agreement should be decided independently of party affiliation, C. Campbell (Pro-Lakehead) believed. The problem should not involve a vote of confidence motion.

G. R. Bennett (Cons. Swan River) declared farmers should be informed of quickly of what will be expected of them in connection with the agreement. Seeding time, he said, was approaching.

Second reading was given three bills dealing with consolidation of municipal law. The measure will extend the time of payment of arrears until 1935.

What's What

In spite of her recent separation from Kenneth McKinnon, Kay Francis, romantic screen star, above, is untouched by movie colony gossip. Maybe it's because she leads a quiet life, stays home, and saves money for the future.

And there always are faintly cut flowers scattered throughout the house.

Miss Francis has two weaknesses—late eating and late sleeping. Food always tastes bad to her during the small hours of the morning, particularly if it has been flavored with therryl.

If she had her way, practically everything she eats would be flavored with that wine. After her early morning "supper," she's ready to crawl into bed, and really prefers to until both hands of the clock were straight up. Unfortunately, her picture work won't permit that.

Mr. Speaker
-- SIR!

The government was a one to three shot on Thursday, Mr. Speaker. That is to say, Sir, one member in the debate supported the government, and three others who took part in the forensic battle of words were definitely opposed, Sir, although these odds will undoubtedly change before the division bell.

BUT it was not so when the leader of the independent group, Fred C. Moyer of Drumheller, swung into action, Mr. Speaker. The Drumheller member had been watching this government with a keen and discerning eye, Sir, for, for these many moons, and he had three faults to find with them, Mr. Speaker, and they were all faults of the first magnitude.

In the first place, Sir, this government had not tried to cope with this unemployment problem. They did not realize how much machinery had displaced manpower, Mr. Speaker. If they had done so, Sir, they would have long ago taken steps to decrease the hours of labour in this province. Why should men work six days a week, Sir, when by making a four day week there would be work enough for all? Some men, Mr. Speaker, might be afraid of four days a week, but the Drumheller member, Sir, was not so enamoured of toil that it made him afraid, Mr. Speaker. Afraid of work, Sir? Perish the thought! He was willing to lie down and sleep alongside it and let

NOTHER complaint, Mr. Speaker, was that this government cut this legislature. Two years

Sir, they had been asked to create a department of mines and industries. Coal mining is the main industry in Alberta, Mr. Speaker, but the reason of the lack of action of the government in creating a department which would look after and see that it was conducted properly and in a reasonable lines, was that it was a coal province. The coal was being cut off by the cutting. Mr. Speaker, was rampant. Mines were selling at low production costs, with the result, Sir, that miners were not getting their wages and were left out of the money. This government, Mr. Speaker, knows that thousands of families have defaulted on their pay-sheets, but did they know, Sir, that the reason of this default hundreds of parcels containing Christmas presents for children in mines' families had to be sent out in the back of empty pay-envelopes? It is a fact, Mr. Speaker, and it was the fault of this government.

HERE was another complaint, that he, too, is treated unjustly by his government, but still a matter of complaint. This government, he said, is not a party government; no better and no party government than any of the other party governments, particularly the same as the party governments, and therefore, Mr. speaker, not worthy of the name of a party government. Mr. speaker, Sir, and rant as private members supporting it may do, it is not a party government. I am confident that if its policies were tested by a Mussolini. Even the Mussolini would not have done it and the same away, unconsciously true, but none the less effective. I am sure that in passing a bill brought into the house he had informed the members of the house of the fact that he had therefore members on this side of the house can vote according to their conscience. A and common sense. Mr. speaker, but a direct proof of the private members were under the triple lash of discipline and

The Engines of War and Their Inhuman Product

A SHELL BURST DID THIS.—A Canadian and an Imperial from down in front of Vimy, July, 1917, being taken by ambulance to hospital. When young boys play at war, they are seldom wounded like this. Their imagination selects nice bullet holes in the leg. As a matter-of-fact, so did the imaginations of some millions of soldiers!

THE REMNANT OF NO. 9 PLATOON, 20TH BATTALION, VIMY.—We are able to identify these men as what was left of Lieut. D. L. Bennett's platoon of the 20th battalion, after they had reached their objective at the crest of Vimy, April 9, 1917. A wrecked German machine-gun nest shelters them. This is a truer battle scene than any of the charges the movies portray.

DUD!—A 12-inch German howitzer shell, a foot across the butt. When these big ones exploded, as they generally did, they made a hole you could put a bungalow in. As they passed overhead, they sounded like freight trains.

EVEN HOSPITALS WERE CAPTURED IN 1918!—These Canadians in their leather jerkins are patients in care of the nuns of the Hotel Dieu of Valenciennes, which was captured by the Canadians on November 2, 1918, in the final scatteration of the Germany army. The hospital tended wounded Germans one day and Canadians the next. You had to watch where you were shooting in those days, because there were children and old men and women choking the lines of the retreat.

AMID THE HEAT AND DUST OF AMIENS.—Tanks advancing up the Amiens-Roye Rd. on August 8, 1918, when the Canadians advanced six miles. So fast was this great surprise attack, planned by Foch himself, that the tanks had a hard time keeping up. But the effect of one of these monsters coming slowly and purposefully across the fields was enough to make the bravest man quake. They spat machine-gun fire, trod down barbed wire and pushed over walls, never pausing in their strange turtle-like advance.

TRENCH MORTARS IN THE RETREAT.—As the Germans withdrew from village to village in October, 1918, they set up machine guns and even trench mortars to fire down the roads by which the Canadians advanced. One of the crew lies near his gun.

War is Not Much Interested in Human Problems

OFTEN A LONG WAIT—Those who were wounded will tell you that it was often a long wait, outside the dressing stations. And how resignedly these Canadians and Germans, wounded at Vimy, April, 1917, seem to lie in the wintry sunlight, waiting for something else to happen.

A FRENCHWOMAN HIT BY A SHELL—Back of the Canadian lines in Belgium, 1916, one of those refugees who risked her life to be as near as possible to the home she had to abandon in the battle area, was wounded by a German shell. Canadian stretcher bearers carry her to the medical officer.

DOMART, OUT FROM AMIENS—Through this village the Canadian corps passed on the morning of August 8, 1918, in what the Germans called the blackest day of the war. But any day, any month, any year that could do this to a gentle little country village, with its church, its tavern, its little shops and cottages, deserves the name of black.

MODERN HYGIENE—In the Somme mud, into a horse-drawn ambulance of ancient vintage, the stretcher bearers are shoving a wounded man. Now you see why everybody wounded had to have a shot of anti-tetanus.

AMERICAN FLAG ON AIR RAID VICTIM'S COFFIN—When the German night fliers bombed the Canadian hospital at Doullens, in May, 1918, they killed three nursing sisters, and two doctors, one of whom was an American. The stars and stripes was laid on his casket when they buried him.

CANADIAN NURSES DECORATE SOLDIERS' GRAVES—On June 30, 1918, in preparation for a celebration of Dominion Day, in which almost the whole corps, being out of the line, took part, nurses came up to the forward area, and as a graceful act dressed soldiers' graves with flowers. Five weeks later, the Canadian corps was storming Amiens as the start of the last Hundred Days.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 16.—Mrs. Marion Hayden Keenan, whose second marriage to Alexander S. Keenan, Jr., San Francisco deputy

The ceremony, performed in city hall by Justice of the Peace August Prohlich, climaxed a complicated matrimonial mixup which made Keenan her first and third husbands and O'Shaughnessy her second and fourth.

In her first marital venture, Miss O'Shaughnessy, attractive young member of a prominent San Francisco family, eloped August 13, 1928, at the age of 18, with Keenan, a little-known San Francisco physician and political leader. Keenan at that time was a law student at Santa Clara university.

The marriage was annulled

VETERAN COACH THINKS HELEN CAN RESUME TENNIS ON MAY 1

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—C. W. "Doc" Fuller, veteran tennis enthusiast and first coach of Helen Wills Moody, expressed the opinion Thursday that Mrs. Moody would be able to resume practice by May 1. The present Wimbledon, clay court, and many times United States titleholder has shown steady improvement since a displaced vertebrae forced her to default in Helen Jacobs in the 1933 National Doubles at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Red Wings Move Into First Place in National League's U.S. Section

DETROIT CLUB TIES KEMERKS TO TAKE LEAD

You can't exactly count on Superiors already "in" as far as the Senior Amateur Hockey League championship is concerned but there's no denying that Ira Stuart's stellar is in a mighty fine position as a result of their victory over Varsity last night. They take the students down the line by four goals to two in the eighth of the final which took the college team in a very tough spot, indeed. . . . It means the picketers from the U. of A. must win two straight starts if they are to can senior city honors. . . . And that's a tall order. . . .

Superiors, on the other hand, need only a single win to clinch it, with two games in which they do just that. . . . This makes it a much easier problem and few think it will be too tough to beat again.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association today announces the inter-provincial playdowns for the west, which shows Alberta and British Columbia meeting in the first round of both the senior and junior series, with one game of each in both provinces. . . . This means that if Edmonton teams can take the Alberta titles, there is too here in the middle of March, local fans will see some of these playdowns. . . .

Like Superior, Edmonton Athletic Club holds a one-game lead in the local junior finals. . . . But also like the Soops, they are not by any means a cinch for the title yet. . . . Coach Chubby Scott has a determined little team in the Rangers, who have taken a beating when there is a chance at all remaining to win. . . .

Unless they reach the Northwest League play-offs—where Coach Duke Keats expects to do—his Eskimos will be making their first appearance of the season here tonight when they face Vancouver Lions. . . . Soft ice forces off their game on Wednesday but it is expected to be a better tonight, what with the shaver in action and a return of somewhat cooler weather. . . . It is a fight for second place this evening, with Eskimos, holding that berth by one point, hoping to improve their grip with a victory. . . .

BOWLING HONORS EVENLY DIVIDED

Harold Dillard, bowling for McDonald Studios and Steve Lakshis for Shastars were the leading ten pinners at the Recreation last night with scores of 286 and 625 respectively. . . . Other high scorers were: Ted Pans, 261; Kenneth 264; Philip 262; Henry Cuthbert 246; Mel Leask 242; Edgewood 241; Ray Shultz 241; Harold Dillard 238. In five pins, N. Panton 270, L. Miller 244, M. Gallimore 270, L. McPherson 211, and 714. L. Skage 246 and 382.

Third Draw Game These Teams Have Played in Five Starts

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Detroit Red Wings and New York Americans struggled through 70 minutes of the most vicious hockey game yet played in the National Hockey League's American division. It was their third in five encounters this season. The Wings won the other two games.

Despite the low score it was not a defensive battle. The two squads of both teams were out full force from the start. Only the snappy goalkeeping of the Wings' and Will O'Reilly and the absence of a goal, concerted attacks kept the score down.

Johnny Stenmet netted the first tally for the Wings in the eighth of the defense team to pick up the puck after the first goal. Veterans while going at full tilt. A couple of minutes later, Larry Aurier's pass broke a stall and allowed the goal. From the side of the rink and Red Wings' defense man, had been the starting star in the game. Jerry Goodman ruled that Doug Young of the Wings had kicked the puck in and the goal didn't count.

A moment later, Robert McVie's goal, passed from Doug Young, flipped it home for the goal that tied the score.
